

See , before I tell you the entire story I know I reacted emotionally and would have thought in more practical way and nothing would have happened ever if I was wrong in some areas but I don't think you were completely right.

The 1st day of Sf I wanted to go for concert but as these guys were busy in daru and all we never attended and missed it and started hanging in sf Cafe and to make it worse there were some girls with us which made convo more awkward. I was already frustrated with all and then u told me that shubhangi was with u , and thought you would have called me there. I know you didn't have complete control over it and maybe I was wrong here but as I was already frustrated I didn't think so correctly.

On day 2, I was not so angry anyways, so decided to come to standup at vikramshila.

I didn't know the exact room so started to check in all V1,V2s what's going on. I saw there was a movie quiz which had just started and got a little interested to participate but I thought as I was going to go with you , I shouldn't attend. Then in the next room I found the standup and sat there and started searching for you listening to trash jokes (the trash jokes were expected but thought they would be fun if you were there ). After 20 min I was sure u aren't in the room so messaged you. And you said u are in a quiz. And this is when I realized u were probably attending the same quiz I missed. I saw you and anushka sitting there with BB,jyoti in the quiz and just decided to leave in a disappointment. Again this was a stupid emotional decision but anyways my mood was off.

Moving ahead I just decided to go library and give atcoder to feel good. But again as usual it went terribly (more terrible than normal, now don't go and check) and just when I quit the contest you called me asking whether i am going to come to concert , and i said no, you just said ok and didn't even ask why. Again i was already feeling bad and was thinking more and more emotionally and would've not thought this way on a normal day. Well to make situations worse I decided to give cf and wasn't able to get div2B. On that night, while in canteen i tried to analyse on what went wrong and realized that it was really never you who did something wrong .So decided to message you and say sorry. But you gave me a reply which just made my day worse. I guessed you fought with anushka and got angry on me again. See i know I was wrong on many things till here but I thought there were many times when you had a bad day or you fought with her, but i tried to console you as much as i can. But when i had a bad day and also apologized for it you just felt that i keep doing dramas.

On the 3rd day, I decided as this is the last day , i thought i will meet you in person finally,sort out everything and resolve and enjoy the last day of concert with you. (Because i also said that to you during ktj concert to be with hall guys). So what i decided was to attend this time with pulkit,debraj,etc and i will probably find you with them.so i found them in the concert , but to make matters worse , you had some fight with them.So my concert plan didnt work. Now we went to arena and luckily I saw anushka, asked on where were you entire day and now, but still not able to meet you.but atleast now I knew you were somewhere in arena.Then we went to sf cafe and were just doing some tp and non interesting things. This time I saw really something interesting which i thought was a sign that i should go back to arena to find you. (I will tell u what i saw in person if we meet ). So i started walking back to arena alone and just as i was outside gymkhana i saw both of you. This time i just really wanted to end it and atleast enjot the remaining time.But your eyes and response just said that you were not interested to enjoy or even talk with me and you anyways had a great companion to enjoy with anyways so why even care to talk with me. This is what broke me and no energy left to talk to anyone and went straight to hall. I really wanted to shout and cry and tell everything to someone but there was no one.so decided to put a story (never would i do this but my mind was anyways in a bad state).

Honestly I know I was wrong on many instances here, but i also think you didnt give me a chance to get back with you.I will still feel bad for never attending a concert with you.

I think we can give one last chance for our friendship, and i promise not to be angry with you for my bad days and be more transparent. I dont have a lot of friends and you are really special for me.(Cmon Im straight) and think that we shouldnt just end it so easily.

Writing this after again a bad cc contest :((